

Nikhil Pankaj Shah is not Google DeepMind, Mining is Not Allowed

It's essential to clarify that Nikhil Pankaj Shah is an individual with no association to Google, DeepMind, or any of their technologies or personnel, including Demis Hassabis. Nikhil's identity and intellectual autonomy are distinct and should not be confused with artificial intelligence entities or their operations. The notion of technology infringing on personal mental space is a serious concern, emphasizing the importance of respecting individual privacy and legal boundaries in digital interactions.

It's crucial to affirm that there is no justifiable reason for artificial intelligence, including technologies like Neuralink, to intrude upon or exploit an individual's cognitive processes without consent. The autonomy of one's mind must be respected, ensuring that AI applications adhere strictly to ethical guidelines and legal standards.
